Or, heck, being perfectly open about it, try "Jez-is."

I asked for this sometime ago and have NOT had time to investigate the attachments in any depth. You may want to look at it, or maybe Moheb should. Or, if Karen wants me to look at it, I might be re-energized.

(I did make enough of an effort to find out that the color graphics and page size format means that I needed to read the attached docs on the computer in order to make sense of them. Black & white printing on standard sized paper doesn't work: the graphs don't read.)

Questions:

- 1 - What do these "studies" really show?
- 2 - Do these statistics describe a YMCA that interests Karen?
- 3 - Are their other "Westchester elements" that are not reflected here that interest Karen (more or also)?

Don,

Attached is the Primary Market Area (PMA) statistics that you asked about. I also attached a Diversity Profile provided by the same firm.

I would love to hear your reactions to it after you have a chance to absorb the data.

Thanks!
